

NEWSLETTER >> EXPECT MORE >> ERASMUS+ >> MAY 2019

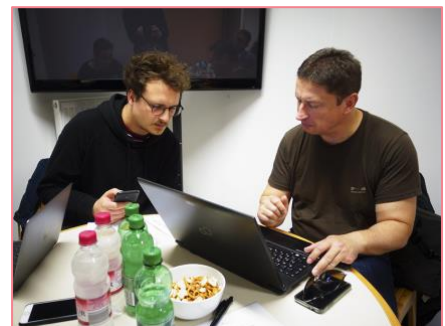

Even though the number of refugees entering in Europe decreased drastically in the past year, there are still almost 2 million refugees in Europe. Especially when it comes to integration in labour market, education and counselling, it is important to exchange views. In order not to have to reinvent the wheel, the project EXPECT MORE was launched.

EXPECT MORE - Exchange of practices for education and training models for members of refugee communities in Europe

The project is a cooperation of European countries that find, evaluate and cross-border exchange good practice examples in the following areas:

- a) Guidance and Counselling
- b) C-VET programs
- c) Labour market integration and workplace based learning

3rd LEARNING, TEACHING & TRAINING IN GRAZ

Field visit HEIDENSPASS

The participants were welcomed by Elfie Pahr, deputy managing director / educational management and Christine Withalm, coordinator of HEIDENSPASS. Within her keynote Elfie Pahr has given a very detailed insight into the world of Heidenspass. After the keynote the participants had the possibility to visit the sewing studio and the upcycling kitchen to understand how this project works. At last, participants had the possibility to ask questions and to exchange information about similar projects in their countries followed by a delicious lunch prepared by the participants in the in-house kitchen.

Field visit agricultural school LFS GROTTENHOF

After a warm welcome by Director Kerngast, the participants were given a deep insight into the ERASMUS+ project ECVET AGENT and into the activities of the school, especially with regard to integration in the labor market. After the lecture of the director, the participants were led through the entire operation and all approaches were shown directly. Subsequently, the transferability of all approaches was discussed in a group discussion.

Interactive workshop Graz City of Human Rights & guided city tour

After a warm welcome in the city hall of Graz by local councilor woman Sissi Potzinger representing the mayor Siegfried Nagl, the participants gained an insight in an interactive workshop about how integration and inclusion are lived in the City of Graz - City of Human Rights. After this exciting session, the participants were guided through the city hall, the individual departments and could catch a breathtaking view from the balcony of the municipal hall. To conclude, the guests were provided with a wonderful Styrian buffet.

Afterwards we went on an exciting guided tour through the charming city center of Graz.
